

INDIGENOUS STUDENT RECRUITMENT INITIATIVE

The Indigenous Student Recruitment Initiative (ISRI) was created in 2016 with the primary role of recruiting and hiring Indigenous students enrolled full-time in post-secondary studies, for various positions as AAFC.

The goal of this program is to give Indigenous students the working experience needed for future job opportunities, with the intent of facilitating successful full-time careers post-graduation.

Variety of jobs in the field of:

Science- Agriculture, Biology, Chemistry, Laboratory and Field Work
Corporate Services- Administrations, Policy & Programs,
Communication, Finance, Human Resources, IT

WE'RE HIRING!

The Indigenous Student Recruitment Initiative at Agriculture and Agri-Food Canada (AAFC) offers meaningful and rewarding employment to university, college and high school students.

- Applicants must self-identify as Indigenous (First Nations, Métis or Inuit) to be eligible
- Job opportunities all across Canada
- Part-Time / Full-Time
- Flexible work (Possibility of Remote work if needed)
- Culturally aware advisors
- Support from AAFC's Indigenous Network Circle

FOR MORE INFORMATION ABOUT ISRI PLEASE CONTACT:

Savannah Fortin-Ferguson
Indigenous Student Advisor, ISAO
savannah.fortin-ferguson@agr.gc.ca

Bailey Sappier
Project Officer, ISAO
bailey.sappier@agr.gc.ca

aafc.isri-irea.aac@agr.gc.ca

The Indigenous Support and Awareness Office (ISAO) consists of a team of Indigenous employees with a focus of Indigenous recruitment and retention in the public service.

Agriculture and
Agri-Food Canada

Agriculture et Agroalimentaire Canada

Canada